

THANK YOU LETTERS OF SECRETARY-GENERAL
TO GOODWILL AMBASSADORS

10 November 2000

*Leave
Henningsen
(un/general section)*

Mrs. Kattis Ahlstrom
Manbacken Production AB
Manbacken 13
13236 Saltsjo-BOO
Sweden

Ms. Feryal Ali Gauhar
c/o Ms. Nuzhat Ehsan
Officer-in-Charge
United Nations Population Fund
Islamabad, Pakistan

 VIA POUCH ***

Mr. Djordje Balasevic
c/o Ms. Aida Pobric
Office of the Chief of Mission
UNHCR
Sarjevo, Bosnia and Herzegovina

Ms. Mary Banotti
Member of the European Parliament
43 Molesworth Street
Dublin 2, Ireland

 VIA POUCH ***

Dr. Nicolaas H. Biegman
Permanent Delegation of The Kingdom of
The Netherlands of the North Atlantic Council
Boulevard Leopold III 39
1110 Brussels, Belgium

Mr. Al Bano Carrisi
Contrada Bosco
72020 Cellino San Marco (BR)
Italy

Ms. Judy Collins
845 West End Avenue
Apt. 10E
New York, NY 10025

Ms. Safia El-Emary
C/o Mr. Abdel Muniem Abu-Nuwar
UNFPA Representative
P.O. Box 982
1511 Cairo, Egypt

Mr. Hussein Fahmy
c/o Mr. Edmund J. Cain
Resident Representative
United Nations Development Programme
Cairo, Egypt

 * * VIA POUCH * * ***

Ms. Wendy Fitzwilliam
40 River Road
#16J
Roosevelt Island, NY 10044

Mr. Danny Glover
Carrie Production
41 Sutter Street, #1648
San Francisco, CA 94104

Ms. Linda Gray
15659 Knochven Road
Canyon Country, CA 91351

Mr. Seamus Heaney
191 Strand Road
Sandymount
Dublin 4, Ireland

Mr. Adel Imam
c/o Mr. Karim Alassi
UNHCR Cairo
Egypt

 * * VIA POUCH * * ***

Mr. Franz Klammer
Modl-Tomangasse 23 A
A-1130 Vienna
Austria

Ms. Mia Farrow
124 Henry Sanford Road
Bridgewater, CT 06752

Ms. Catarina Furtado
c/o APF
38 Rua Artilharia Um
2o Dto
1250 Lisbon, Portugal

Ms. Geri Halliwell
c/o Franca Tranza
Marie Stopes International
153-157 Cleveland Street
London W1P 5PG
United Kingdom

Ms. Hanne-Vibeke Holst
Kr. Zahrtmanns Pl. 78
DK-2000 Frederiksberg
Denmark

Ms. Luipita Jones
Nuestra Belleza México
Periférico Sur 4225-506
Col. Jardines en la Montaña
México, D.F. 14210, México

Mr. Tetsuya Komuro
TK State America Museum, Inc.
1-14-5-S501, Akasaka
Minato-ku, Tokyo
Japan

Ms. Misako Konno
c/o Mr. Hisatsugu Shimizu
Deputy Director
UNDP Liaison Office
Tokyo, Japan

 * * VIA POUCH * * ***

Ms. Tetsuko Kuroyanagi
United Nations Univeristy
53-70, Jingumae 5-chome
8th Floor, Shibuya-Ku
Tokyo 150-0001
Japan

Ms. Mpule Kwelagobe
Betham Management
36 North Moore Street
New York, NY 10013

Ms. Letizia Moratti
Via Durini 28
20121 Milano
Italy

Mr. Youssou N'Dour
Rue 1 Angle D, Point E
En Face Hotel Jardin de France
BP-1310 Dakar
Senegal

Ms. Bui Nakhirunkanok
Varasia
23852 Pacific Coast Highway
Suite 321
Malibu, CA 90265

Dr. Bertrand Piccard
Avenue de Florimont 20
CH-1006 Lausanne
Switzerland

Mr. Johann Olav Koss
Chairman
Olympic Aid
337 Magna Drive
Aurora Ontario L4G 7K1
Canada

Mr. Mikko Kuustonen
Lepinkaisentie 6B
02660 Espoo
Finland

Ms. Goedele Liekens
Kraaustraat 68
B-1703 Schepdaal
Belgium

Ms. Nana Mouskouri
9, Chmin de la Prevote
CH-1223 Cologny
Switzerland

Mr. Takehito Nakata
6-32, Kusaka-Cho, 1 Cho-Mi
Higashi-Osaka City
Osaka 579 Japan

Mr. Luis "Ronaldo" Nazario de Lima
c/o Azyade Poltier-Mutal
UNDP European Office
Palais des Nations
Geneva, Switzerland

 * * VIA POUCH * * ***

Ms. Arja Saijonmaa
Storgatan 54
115 23 Stockholm
Sweden

Ms. Susan Sarandon
One Union Square West
Suite 808
New York, NY 10003

Ms. Rosy Senanayake
c/o Ms. Suneeta Mukherjee
P.O. Box 1505
Colombo 7, Sri Lanka

Ms. Vendela Thommessen
923 Fifth Avenue
Apt. 8F
New York, NY 10021

Ms. Marian Wright Edelman
Children's Defense Fund
25 E Street, NW
Washington, D.C. 20001

Mr. Riz Khan
CNN International
One CNN Center
Atlanta, GA 30348

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Khan,

I wish to thank you for your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

Your expertise as Moderator was critical to the success of the day. I greatly appreciate your willingness to lead that discussion and to work with my team in planning the event.

With all best wishes and again, my thanks.

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan'.

Kofi A. Annan

Mr. Riz Khan
CNN International
Atlanta

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mrs. Ahlstrom,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Mrs. Kattis Ahlstrom
Saltsjö

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Ali Gauhar,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

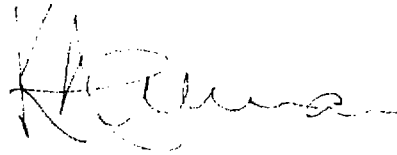

Ms. Feryal Ali Gauhar
Islamabad

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Balasevic,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Mr. Djordje Balasevic
Sarajevo

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

- Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Banotti,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Mary Banotti
Member of the European Parliament
Dublin

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, cursive script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Dr. Biegman,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Dr. Nicolaas H. Biegman
Permanent Representative
Permanent Delegation of The Kingdom of
The Netherlands on the North Atlantic Council
Brussels

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Carrisi,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Mr. Al Bano Carrisi
Cellino San Marco

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Collins,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

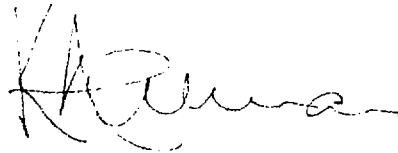

Ms. Judy Collins
New York

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. El-Emary,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Safia El-Emary
Cairo

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Fahmy,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Mr. Hussein Fahmy
Cairo

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Farrow,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Mia Farrow
Bridgewater

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Fitzwilliam,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Wendy Fitzwilliam
New York

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Furtado,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Catarina Furtado
Lisbon

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Glover,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Mr. Danny Glover
San Francisco

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Gray,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Linda Gray
Canyon Country

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Halliwell,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Geri Halliwell
London

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Heaney,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Mr. Seamus Heaney
Dublin

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

- Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Holst,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Hanne-Vibeke Holst
Frederiksberg

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Imam,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Mr. Adel Imam
Cairo

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Jones,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Lupita Jones
Mexico

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Klammer,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Mr. Franz Klammer
Vienna

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Komuro,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Mr. Tetsuya Komuro
Tokyo

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Konno,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Misako Konno
Tokyo

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Koss,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Mr. Johann Olav Koss
Chairman
Olympic Aid
Aurora

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Kuroyanagi,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Tetsuko Kuroyanagi
Tokyo

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Kuustonen,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Mr. Mikko Kuustonen
Espoo

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Kwelagobe,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Mpule Kwelagobe
New York

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Liekens,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Goedele Liekens
Schepdaal

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

- Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Moratti,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Letizia Moratti
Milano

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, cursive script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Mouskouri,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Nana Mouskouri
Cologne

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. N'Dour,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Mr. Youssou N'Dour
Dakar

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, cursive script.

- Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Nakata,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

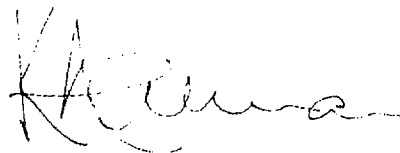

Mr. Takehito Nakata
Osaka

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

- Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Nakhirunkanok,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Bui Nakhirunkanok
Malibu

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized flourish at the end.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Mr. Nazario de Lima,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

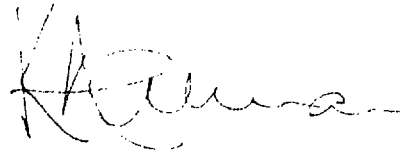

Mr. Luis "Ronaldo" Nazario de Lima
Geneva

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized flourish at the end.

- Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Dr. Piccard,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

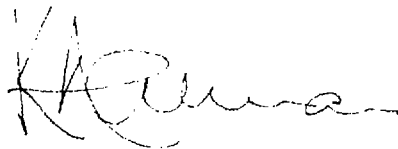

Dr. Bertrand Piccard
Lausanne

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Saijonmaa,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Arja Saijonmaa
Stockholm

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards.

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Sarandon,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Susan Sarandon
New York

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

- Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Senanayake,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

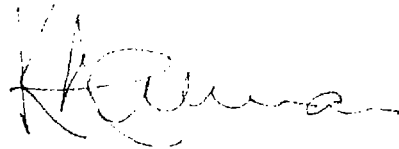

Ms. Rosy Senanayake
Colombo

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized flourish at the end.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Thommessen,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Vendela Thomessen
New York

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, flowing script.

Kofi A. Annan

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

10 November 2000

Dear Ms. Wright Edelman,

I very much appreciate your presence and participation in the recent meeting of Messengers of Peace and Goodwill Ambassadors. This unprecedented event offered an opportunity to bring together as one group the talented, distinguished and diverse men and women who draw the attention of the public to the United Nations role in dealing with problems and issues which are of concern to people everywhere.

The collegiality among you and your genuine desire to be of service to others was a great source of encouragement. No one could have characterized your mission more eloquently than my friend Harry Belafonte when we met together at lunch:

"Those who have elected to accept the responsibility of being advocates to the United Nations have taken on a noble and formidable task. . . . I don't think we should be afraid of what we do or be intimidated by those who are our detractors. There are a lot of them. If the world were not in trouble there would be no need for us. . . . If there is one thing that we are responsible for, it is to make sure that we hold leadership and power accountable."

Ms. Marian Wright Edelman
Washington, D.C.

Your words have dramatized and publicized critically important issues, while deepening public understanding and strengthening support for the United Nations. I am deeply grateful for this.

We in the United Nations are now seized with the task of improving our work with you. We have benefited enormously from your comments, both at the public meeting and in private. I hope this communication will continue, and look forward to our future work together.

Again, many thanks and best personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'K. Annan', with a stylized, cursive script.

Kofi A. Annan